

NEWS PRINT STATEMENT

By Federal Trade Commission Claiming an Increase Cost Production.

Washington, Nov. 3.—In a statement issued by the federal trade commission announced that during the first half year, when prices of news print paper was advancing to such unprecedented figures, the average cost of producing paper at domestic mills was less than $1.65 per hundred pounds, which was below the average cost of three years.

No conclusions drawn from the facts were presented in the statement, such matters being reserved for the official report. Before the report is published there will be a hearing at which all interested parties will be given opportunity to appear.

The statement says that during the first half of 1916 there was a large increase in both, domestic production and imports and that while some paper was exported, the exports were small, being less than the actual increase of imports, showing that domestic consumption increased greatly.

The statement says that new capacity, which will soon be making paper, will provide 160 tons daily.

For Winter Colds
You need a real tonic. Strength is required to overcome the trouble. Let that tonic be one that is specially valuable in cold conditions, and you can conquer the cold. A cold is acute catarrh; it may become chronic. Chronic catarrh frequently becomes systemic, involving the stomach and the intestinal tract as well as the nose or throat. It means stagnation.
PERUNA IS INVIGORATION
It clears away the waste matter, dispels the inflammation and tones up the system. For forty-five years it has been used in catarrh by thousands of grateful sufferers, who willingly tell the world of their relief. Peruna's long history of helpfulness is the best evidence that it is what you should take.

HELPS IN HOUSECLEANING

Closet Where There May Be Orderly Arrangement of Utensils Makes the Work Easier.

No one thing does more to help easy cleaning than some kind of house-cleaning closet. This may be placed under the back stairs, in a rear hall or even in a back porch. It should be wide and shallow, preferably not more than a foot or eighteen inches in depth, to accommodate buckets, pails, scrubbers, etc. One of the most successful closets I know of is built on a back porch of a house in the country. It is about a foot wide and has a narrow shelf extending across at the height of about five feet. On this shelf are kept cleaners, ammonia, stove polish, bathbrick and many other bottles and pans of cleaning necessities. Under the shelf are fastened small holders into which are slipped the various brooms, mops and tools having long handles, thus keeping each separate and in shape. Small hooks are placed lower down, on which are hung lantern, tin basins, carpet-beater, etc. Several high hooks are reserved for holding mackintosh and farm clothing, and boots share the lower space with buckets and pails.—Woman's Home Companion.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When ironing it is a very good plan to get a clean brick, a white one if possible, as a stand. The iron will retain heat much longer than if an open firestand be used.

When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin round quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round on a.

Tar may be removed from the hands by rubbing with the outside of fresh orange or lemon peel and drying immediately. The volatile oils dissolve the tar so that it can be rubbed off.

When buttons are taken from an old dress they should be strung on a string before putting them into the button box.

When the hair is dry, lusterless and brittle try rubbing a few drops of castor oil well into the scalp.

A little lemon juice added to the water in which the hair is washed will keep it light and at the same time act as a tonic to the scalp.

It is said that the hands may be speedily whitened by rubbing them well for three nights successively with sweet almond oil and then dusting over them as much fine chalk as they will retain.

Brazilian Ship Hammocks Not Only Things of Beauty But Designed to Give Long Service.

The passenger capacity of the vessels, such as we know, is limited by the number of berths and staterooms the ship contains, but there is no such limitation in vessels that ply along the Amazon river. Staterooms are a superfluity in them, for they are never used except by the few foreign travelers to dress in.

The passenger capacity of the Brazilian vessel depends upon the hanging-room for hammocks on the vessel's deck. Everybody must have a hammock, for the staterooms are unbearable at night. The Brazilian hammock is a thing of beauty, and is costly, too. The best of them cost anywhere from $100 to $500. Those made of maqueira grass, with feather lace trimmings, are deemed the best. It takes several months to make a first-class hammock. The feather work is artistic and very clearly put together. The feathers are all in the natural colors, taken from birds of most brilliant plumage. The Indians on the upper Rio Negro enjoy a great reputation for this kind of work.

These hammocks will last a lifetime, although they may be in use every day, and washed once a month. The most common kind of hammock is of German manufacture, made of cotton and very cheap. These are warm and exclude drafts of air. The best cotton ones are of native-grown cotton and are made in Maracaibo. The grass hammocks are much cooler than any bed, as they let in the night breezes through their loosely woven meshes.

WHEN LOOKING FOR GAS LEAK

Some Safety Rules Which May Do Away With Necessity of Engaging Services of Undertaker.

Here is a set of standard instructions for persons who notice gas in their rooms:

If the smell of gas is strong, first ventilate the room.

Then examine the keys to the fixtures, stove or other appliances. One of them may be partly open.

If a fixture or connection is broken be sure your windows are raised; then go to the nearest phone and notify the gas company.

After notification try to putty up the leak or close it with any substance that will make an effective plug.

Never look for a leak with a match or any flame, lantern or lamp.

If you find a person overcome by the gas, throw up the windows, drag the unconscious one to the open air and then telephone a physician.

After telephoning the physician, telephone the gas company and tell of the accident. Most companies now own pulmotors. It is an appliance for pumping gas out of a person's lungs and injecting pure air in its stead. This is an invaluable aid to the doctor.

Flowers of the Sea.
Like the land, the sea has its flowers, but the most brilliant of the marine flowers bloom not upon plants but upon animals. The living corals of tropical seas present a display of floral beauty that in richness and vividness of color and variety and grace of form rivals the splendor of a garden of flowers. The resemblance to blossoms is so complete that some persons find it difficult to believe that the brilliant display contains no element of plant life, but is wholly animal in its organization.

Among the sea animals that bloom as if they were plants are included, besides corals, the sea anemone and the sea cucumber. It has been remarked that the birds and butterflies of the upper world are replaced by fishes of curious forms and flashing colors which dart about among the animal flowers.

Obedient Man.
The other morning one of the regular patrons boarded the car at the usual place, but instead of taking a seat he started to walk back and forth in the car. There were plenty of seats and the action of the regular patron attracted the attention of one of his business associates.

"What's the matter, Dan? Why don't you take a seat?" he was asked. "Serving two masters!" came back the reply. "You see, when I started out this morning my mother-in-law reminded me that it was such a fine morning that I should walk to the office. Wife, more considerate of my well-being, told me to ride. I am trying to obey them both so that when I get home this evening from the office I can truthfully say that I won't have to lie to either of them." And the regular patron kept on walking back and forth.—Columbus Dispatch.

Use for the New Baby.
A New Englander who is a great angler and whose fish stories are listened to most attentively by his eight-year-old son, recently became a father for the fifth time, another boy being brought by the stork.

The eight-year-old was told of the arrival of this new brother, and he was very curious to see him. The father took the first opportunity to gratify the lad's curiosity. The kid gazed at the bit of red humanity for quite a while, and then, with great gravity, he looked into his father's face and said:

"Dad, he'd make a first-rate bait, wouldn't he?"—Harpers Magazine.
